NEW BOOKS PUBLISHED FROM WILDY, SIMMONDS & HILL

ASSETS OF COMMUNITY VALUE Law and Practice

Simon Adamyk

Price: £69.00
ISBN: 9780854902071
Extent: 486pp
Binding: hardback

This book provides guidance on the interpretation and application of the provisions relating to assets of community value under the Localism Act 2011. It aims to provide both legal and practical guidance, drawing together in one place the relevant principles from the Act, the accompanying Regulations, other primary and secondary legislation, Government guidance, the case law and elsewhere. It will provide assistance to a number of different groups: to those who wish to nominate a building or other land for listing as an asset of community value, to landowners who may wish to resist the listing of their property, to local authorities who have to determine the nomination and resolve any disputes (and maybe defend their decision on review and on appeal), and to the professionals who advise them.

The assets of community value provisions of the Localism Act 2011 are being extensively used and the impact of the provisions is not to be underestimated. Thousands of assets have been listed since the legislation came into force, and the provisions can have a significant impact on the landowner's rights in relation to his land, both while the land is still in his ownership and also if he wishes to dispose of the land. The impact of the provisions has increased significantly since they were first introduced, as a result of changes to planning legislation in 2015.

Simon Adamyk is a practising barrister at New Square Chambers, Lincoln's Inn. He read law at Downing College, Cambridge, and was awarded the highest mark in the University in each of the three years of his law degree and also a starred first in his first year. He also holds a Master's degree in law from Harvard Law School. He specialises in chancery/commercial law.

A PRACTITIONER'S GUIDE TO WILLS

Fourth Edition

Lesley King, Keith Biggs and Peter Gausden

Price: £69.00
ISBN: 9780854902040
Extent: 534pp + CD
Binding: hardback

The fourth edition of this popular title provides a practical and comprehensive reference for all those concerned in drafting and interpreting wills, and in giving effect to their provisions. The commentary is supported throughout by an extensive range of specimen clauses and model wills are provided in a separate appendix. All precedent material is included on the accompanying CD-Rom, enabling practitioners to adapt precedents for their own use.

Fully updated, A Practitioner's Guide to Wills now covers the Estates of Deceased Persons (Forfeiture Rule and Law of Succession Act) 2011, Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013, Trusts (Capital and Income) Act 2013 and the Inheritance and Trustees Powers Act 2014, the latter making major changes to the intestacy rules, family provision legislation and trustees' statutory powers of maintenance and advancement. It examines the impact of these legislative changes as well developments in taxation affecting wills, notably the new relevant property trust regime and its impact on pilot settlements, the new residence nil rate band, the reduced rate of IHT for gifts to charity and the new rules on trusts for disabled beneficiaries. The impact of the new residence nil rate band on planning and drafting is considered, together with the role that nil rate band gifts and discretionary trusts might still have to play in financial planning. The chapter on construction of wills has been rewritten following the Supreme Court's decision in Marley v Rawlings and subsequent cases including Reading v Reading are considered. The chapter on testamentary capacity has been revised in the light of developments since the Mental Capacity Act 2005 including Simon v Byford which considered the extent to which dementia affects testamentary capacity. Other recent cases discussed include the Court of Appeal decisions in Ilott v Mitson and its implications for testators who wish to exclude close family members from benefit.

Lesley King is a solicitor, and a principal lecturer at the College of Law. Keith Biggs is now a Probate Consultant but was formerly the District Probate Registrar at Winchester. Peter Gausden was formerly a principal lecturer at the College of Law. He is now a consultant solicitor at Rowlinsons.

WAR PENSIONS AND ARMED FORCES COMPENSATION

Law and Practice

Andrew Bano

Price: £75.00
ISBN 9780854901906
Extent: 390 pp
Binding: Hardback 152x229mm

War pensions law contains a number of unique features, in particular, the onus on the Secretary of State to disprove entitlement to benefit beyond reasonable doubt. Although the war pensions scheme has now been replaced by the armed forces compensation scheme, claims continue to be made under it in respect of new conditions and in respect of deterioration in the condition of claimants already in receipt of awards.

The armed forces compensation scheme, which was introduced in 2005, proved controversial, particularly against the background of the very serious injuries sustained by members of the armed forces serving in Afghanistan, and was substantially amended in 2011 as a result of a review of the Scheme carried out under the chairmanship of Lord Boyce.

This book is written by an acknowledged expert in the field and provides for the first time an indispensable reference work covering all aspects of war pensions and armed forces compensation law and practice. The book traces the history of both schemes and provides a detailed commentary on the provisions of the Service Pensions Order 2006 and of the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme 2011, as interpreted by the nominated judges and by the judges of the Upper Tribunal and the appellate courts. The book covers the procedure for making a claim, bringing an appeal, and practice and procedure before the First-tier Tribunal (in England and Wales), the Pensions Appeal Tribunals (in Scotland and Northern Ireland), and the Upper Tribunal.

War Pensions and Armed Forces Compensation: Law and Practice is an authoritative and comprehensive analysis of the legal principles underlying entitlement to compensation for those injured or killed in the service of their country. It is designed also to be a practical and accessible guide for all those concerned in bringing and dealing with war pensions and armed forces compensation claims and appeals.

Andrew Bano is a visiting judge of the Upper Tribunal and a former president of the War Pensions and Armed Forces Compensation Chamber of the First-tier Tribunal.

ENQUIRIES OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES AND WATER COMPANIES A Practical Guide

6th Edition

Keith Pugsley and Ken Miles

Price:	£35.00
ISBN	9780854901920
Extent:	266 pp
Binding:	Paperback 152x229mm

As an essential part of the conveyancing process, the purchaser of domestic, agricultural, commercial or industrial property or land carries out a search at the local authority offices to discover if there are any planning; environmental health; highways or water restrictions appertaining to the property to be purchased.

This popular work gives a clear and concise commentary on the new Forms Con29 and Con29O and on the Water and Drainage Enquiries (Con29DW) currently in use. Now for the first time Form Con 29 has enquiries relating to surface water drainage schemes, heritage partnership agreements, flood and coastal erosion risk management, community infrastructure levy, assets of community value, flood consents and land drainage consents.

The 6th edition of this book examines each enquiry in turn, and sets out the relevant and up-to-date legal position, with sources and references, in non-technical jargon. The authors then provide a summary of the implications of any reply by the local authority or water company concerned, positive or negative, so that a prospective purchaser can make a balanced decision as to whether or not to proceed with the purchase.

For this edition, occasioned by the Law Society's issue of the new Forms Con 29 on 4 July this year, Keith is joined by Ken Miles, Head of Legal Services for North Devon District Council. Ken gives a new, modern and practical perspective on the wide-ranging implications of the legal provisions which cover a great deal of the business of local government services today.

Enquiries of Local Authorities and Water Companies provides an invaluable guide to the conveyancing practitioner, the local land charges officer and to the estate agent.

Keith Pugsley has worked as a solicitor in the local government legal service with Greater London Council, South Bedfordshire D.C. and Dacorum Borough Council finishing as Director of Law and Administration.

Ken Miles joined the local government legal service after a couple of years in private practice and has just completed 25 years as legal executive (F.Inst.L.EX.) and Solicitor of the Supreme Court. He is now Head of Legal Services for North Devon District Council.

RESTRICTIONS ON THE USE OF LAND

William Webster and Robert Weatherley

Price: £165.00
ISBN: 9780854901975
Extent: 664pp
Binding: hardback

Restrictions on the Use of Land covers the law and practice in a number of fields which impact on the use of land and there is considerable focus on remedies for the infringement of rights in, on or over land. The areas covered include easements, town and village greens, public rights of way, restrictive covenants, assets of community value (and the right of community groups to bid for listed land) along with selected elements of planning law. Coverage in the case of the latter is broken down under three heads, namely the fundamentals of development control, appeals and enforcement, together with a wide ranging review of the law and practice affecting conservation and enhancement of both natural and man-made environments.

The book aims to provide readily accessible answers to a whole range of problems which commonly arise in the day to day practice of land lawyers, developers and other professionals involved in the development and/or realisation of valuable land assets in either the private or public sectors. Its advantage lies in the fact that it is a single up to date reference book covering a broad range of topics which might otherwise only be found in a number of standard specialist texts.

William Webster was called to the Bar in 1975 and is in practice at 3 Paper Buildings. He has a wide-ranging practice in land and planning. He is also a specialist in the law of village greens, having appeared in the Supreme Court in the Betterment case (2014) and he continues to sit regularly as an inspector in non-statutory inquiries.

Robert Weatherley is a barrister specialising in property work at 3 Paper Buildings. His practice encompasses traditional land and planning disputes. Outside of the Bar he has taught at the University of Warwick, School of Law, since 2011.

A Festschrift is a celebration in writing. This Festschrift honours Nana Dr. Samuel Kwadwo Boaten Asante - a most distinguished legal scholar, practitioner and policymaker and a towering figure in the Ghanaian legal community. Throughout his academic and professional life, Dr. SKB Asante advanced the interests of the developing world through his scholarship, advocacy and counsel in law, development and public policy matters. Through a career that spans more than half a century of working with international organisations such as the United Nations and the World Bank, various governments around the world and academic establishments in Ghana and abroad, he worked tirelessly to introduce fresh perspectives to provide countries at the periphery of the international system with a meaningful opportunity to pursue their development aspirations. Dr. Asante is a former Solicitor-General and Deputy Attorney-General of Ghana. He was the Chairman of the Committee of Experts that drafted proposals for Ghana's current Constitution. He has published extensively including articles in the Yale Law Journal, American Journal of International Law, Review of Ghana Law and Cornell Law Journal.

This Festschrift contains forty-two chapters written by forty-seven authors with outstanding credentials from various countries. The authors include Justices of the superior courts of Ghana, England and Wales; a Judge of the Iran-United States Claims Tribunal; experts on international investment law, international and domestic arbitration, natural resources law, constitutional law, transnational corporations and public international law; and legal practitioners, policy makers and academics from a great variety of institutions including Harvard Business School, Georgetown University Law Center, Oxford University, University of Ghana, Cornell University Law School, Transparency International, and the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO). Their essays examine Dr. Asante's life, work and scholarship, and probe issues arising in foreign investments and international business transactions; national and international dispute resolution; public international law, governance and constitutionalism; perspectives on nation building; natural resources, land and the environment; and law, development and policy.
